

7.55 Analysis of Martin Luther’s “Ninety-Five Theses”

Text from 95 Theses	What does it mean?
5. The pope has neither the will nor the power to remit any penalties beyond those imposed either at his own discretion or by canon law.
6. The pope himself cannot remit guilt, but only declare and confirm that it has been remitted by God; or, at most, he can remit it in cases reserved to his discretion. Except for these cases, the guilt remains untouched.
27. There is no divine authority for preaching that the soul flies out of purgatory immediately the money clinks in the bottom of the chest
31. One who in good faith buys indulgences is as rare as a truly penitent man, i.e., very rare indeed.
42. Christians should be taught that the pope does not at all intend that the purchase of indulgences should be understood as at all comparable with works of mercy.
